

Senior Regulatory Affairs Specialist (Work Remotely)

Dell Tech, a successful London, ON-based company, has been providing trusted and comprehensive regulatory compliance expertise and professional consulting services to the chemical specialty industry in Canada, USA and Europe for 40 years.

Dell Tech currently has an exciting opportunity for an energetic, proven and driven Senior Regulatory Affairs Specialist to join their growing team. We offer flexibility to work remotely in this position, or from our office where all social distancing protocols are strictly enforced.

The Role

The Senior Regulatory Affairs Specialist is responsible for providing exceptional regulatory consulting services to international clients in the area of chemical product registration, while actively promoting and marketing Dell Tech's comprehensive portfolio of services to current and potential clients. The successful candidate will proactively review client product information and consult on products for Canadian compliance; while determining if products require registration and under which applicable regulatory body.

With particular emphasis on PMRA and DIN requirements the Senior Regulatory Affairs Specialist will present recommendations to clients for all regulatory affairs services and submissions, while engaging in technical and regulatory research and consulting for client support. Finally, this key member of the team will track registrations and effectively communicate with clients on project progress to ensure all critical timelines are met.

As the successful candidate, you will enjoy being a part of an exciting work environment where you will have the opportunity to grow, develop and train with a team of professionals who care about providing their clients with best-in-class regulatory consulting services.

In this full-time role, you will also receive a competitive base salary and benefits plan including RRSP matching.
